Construction Underway on PBS Hawaii's NEW HOME

When I see heavy equipment operators at work on the site of PBS Hawaii's NEW HOME on Nimitz Highway, I think of the local expression: "Hemo and demo!" "Hemo" is pidgin for remove; "demo," of course, is English shorthand for demolish.

Our general contractor, Allied Builders System, is going strong, taking down walls, roof lines, and other elements of the one-story former KFVE Newsplex, and carting out the rubble. Workers also are strengthening and adding infrastructure, including protected conduits to support cables and fiber links.

As the work visibly progresses to add a second story and create a modern educational media center serving all islands, more people are taking an interest and even volunteering hands-on help. We try for a personal touch at this statewide TV station – and we're thrilled when viewers reach out to us, too.

Demolition is underway at our NEW HOME location, an acre-sized lot at the entrance to Sand Island Access Road. Work also begins on strengthening infrastructure to construct a second story.

For example, here are some ways that viewers have offered to assist:

- A longtime Oahu nursery wants to supply some of the landscaping plants.
- An accomplished Kauai woodworker wants to handcraft and donate a beautiful conference table.
- A fine artist has volunteered to paint a large wall with images that reflect the people of the islands served by PBS Hawaii.

And, surprise! A top commercial television station, Hawaii News Now, made an unprecedented gift of airtime for us to make our case to a different audience. General Manager Rick Blangiardi turned over to us the commercial breaks during two 10:00 pm simulcast Hawaii News Now newscasts on January 13.

Viewers from towns and hamlets from every populated Hawaiian island except Niihau have made contributions. Generally, these donors are not well-heeled philanthropists, but people of modest means who are sacrificing to make a one-time capital contribution. Our “free” over-the-air, educational programming reaches 25 of the 25 most financially disadvantaged places in the islands.

We believe in the truth of these sayings: Education is the great equalizer; and a rising tide floats all boats.

Many people care about having universal access to educational programs, with quality storytelling that profoundly touches lives. PBS Hawaii has raised $23.7 of our $30 million goal.

With extensive grassroots support and major funding from respected charitable foundations and the Hawaii State government, we are now appealing to more individuals and businesses to help us turn the corner on our goal. We welcome checks, online donations, and appreciated securities, such as stocks and bonds; retirement assets, such as a gift from your IRA; and bequests.

We’d love to hear from you! Your name can become part of this NEW HOME, The Clarence T.C. Ching Campus, for a donation of $500 or more. And with larger amounts, there are excellent naming opportunities, such as a Keiki Neighborhood, HIKI

Workers meet in the pit that will become an elevator in our NEW HOME.

NŌ editing suite, and an emergency broadcast center.

Please call PBS Hawaii NEW HOME at ph. 955-0500; go to PBSHawaii.org/newhome; or use the coupon on the back page of this magazine.

From “hemo and demo,” let’s work together to create a new island home for learning and discovery through authentic storytelling about Hawaii and the world.

With gratitude,

Leslie

PBS Hawaii Presents Hawaiian Masterpieces: Ka Hana Kapa

Thursday, February 26, 9:00 pm

Marie McDonald and daughter Roen Hufford.

Joy Chong-Stannard, a local producer, director, editor and longtime PBS Hawaii contributor, is accustomed to telling the stories of Hawaii's people. Joy, along with creative partners Craig Howes and Victoria Kneubuhl from the University of Hawaii Center for Biographical Research, has documented the lives of influential people in Hawaii's past through the Biography Hawaii series, including kumu hula Maiki Aiu Lake and Hawaiian patriot Joseph Nawahi.

When the Hawaii State Foundation on the Culture and the Arts asked the Biography Hawaii team to tell a deeper story of kapa, the "fabric" used by ancient Hawaiians, Joy, Craig and Victoria saw an opportunity to present the methods and the history of kapa through storytelling.

"What we tried to do was to put kapa in a historical context, so people would understand why this revival of cultural tradition was so important," Joy says.

Hawaiian Masterpieces: Ka Hana Kapa follows present-day kapa makers through the kapa-making process, and concludes with the dressing of a halau hula in Hawaiian kapa for the 2010 Merrie Monarch Festival.

Marie McDonald, a renowned lei maker, artist, painter and kapa maker, is featured in the documentary. With her daughter, Roen Hufford, Marie takes viewers through the process of making kapa, using the same types of tools and methods ancient Hawaiians used. "[Marie] is in her late 80s, and she was actually the impetus behind this kapa project, to outfit the halau completely in kapa attire," Joy says.

In the film, Marie says, "I really wanted to do something big and wonderful, because that was the primary use for the kapa that Hawaiian women made – my ancestors made."

Joy hopes viewers will want to discover their own cultural traditions after watching Ka Hana Kapa. "I think it gives us a sense of identity, it gives us a sense of where we are today, because we have to know where we came from in order to tell us who we are," Joy says.

Marie McDonald and Roen Hafford use ancient techniques to shape and soften kapa fabric.

Dr. M. Sanjayan, host of EARTH A New Wild, journeys across the globe to see Earth's wildest places.

EARTH A New Wild

Premieres Wednesday, February 4, 9:00 pm

This new five-part series takes a fresh look at humankind's relationship to the planet's wildest places and most fascinating species. Dr. M. Sanjayan, a leading conservation scientist, takes viewers on a stunning visual journey to explore how humans are inextricably woven into every aspect of the planet's natural systems.

The series features spectacular natural history footage from the most striking places on Earth, with encounters between wild animals and the people who live and work with them. With up-close looks at a range of species – from giant pandas to humpback whales and African lions to Arctic reindeer – Sanjayan reveals that co-habitations with animals can work, and be mutually beneficial.

Dr. Sanjayan travels to Nepal to raise awareness of vulture population decline.

LONG STORY SHORT WITH LESLIE WILCOX Edwin Gayagas Tuesday, February 10, 7:30 pm
Edwin Gayagas has led a life of loyalty and service, both as a U.S. Army Colonel and as a volunteer in his community.

- 9:00 NOVA Colosseum: Roman Death Trap A monument to Roman imperial power and cruelty, the Colosseum's graceful lines and harmonious proportions concealed a highly efficient design and advanced construction methods that made hundreds of arches out of 100,000 tons of stone. In its elliptical arena, tens of thousands of gladiators, slaves, prisoners and wild animals met their deaths. Then, just as quickly, the Colosseum could be flooded with so much water that ships could engage in sea battles. Could these legends be true? Using ancient Roman techniques, a team of archaeologists and engineers re-create a lifting machine and trap-door system to release a wolf into the Colosseum.

- 8:30 THE MCLAUGHLIN GROUP
- 9:00 SHAKESPEARE UNCOVERED Antony & Cleopatra with Kim Cattrall Kim Cattrall has played the role of Cleopatra twice and meets others who have, as well – like Janet Suzman, who is renowned for her performance with the Royal Shakespeare Company. Together, they begin to uncover the truth behind Shakespeare's "middle-aged" love story.
- 10:00 SHAKESPEARE UNCOVERED Romeo & Juliet with Joseph Fiennes Joseph Fiennes examines Royal Ballet productions, musicals such as West Side Story and Baz

Luhmann's extraordinary cinematic re-imagination of Romeo & Juliet to understand why the love story remains the most adapted and performed of all of Shakespeare's works. The ending of this play is so tragic that for years rewritten versions dominated the stage. Yet Fiennes sees a more hopeful message coming from the tragic ending, one about the eternal power of love.

UNTOLD STORIES OF THE CIVIL RIGHTS MOVEMENT Go beyond the myths of the Birmingham Civil Rights Movement – that it was all black, all male, and led by ministers who rallied in 1963 and liberated a city – to meet the men and women who risked all to bring about segregation's demise. In the spring of 1962, a group of students from Miles College, led by Frank Dukes, their 31-year-old Student Government Association President, created and launched a Selective Buying Campaign. Supporting the students were Miles College President Dr. Lucius H Pitts, selected faculty, local housewives and members of Birmingham's white community. These factions brought about significant desegregation before Dr. King's arrival to the city in 1963.

- 9:00 NOVA Petra: Lost City of Stone More than 2,000 years ago, the thriving city of Petra rose up in the bone-dry desert of what is now Jordan. An oasis of culture and abundance, it was built by wealthy merchants who carved spectacular temple-tombs into its cliffs, raised a monumental Great Temple and devised an ingenious system that channeled water to vineyards, bath-houses, fountains and pools. But following a catastrophic earthquake and a slump in its desert trade routes, Petra's unique culture faded and was lost to most of the world for nearly 1,000 years. Now, an archaeologist and sculptors team up to carve an iconic temple-tomb to find out how the ancient people of Petra built their city of stone.

PARTNER PROFILE

American Savings Bank

As PBS Hawaii celebrates 50 years as Hawaii's only public television station, longtime viewer Jayson Harper, First Vice President, Director of Communications and Public Relations for American Savings Bank, reflects on how the station has been a constant throughout his life.

Jayson Harper
First Vice President, Director of Communications and Public Relations
American Savings Bank

“PBS news and public affairs programs have always been my source of information,” explains Jayson, recalling his fondness for Island Insights and The NewsHour with Jim Lehrer, now Insights on PBS Hawaii and the PBS NewsHour, respectively.

“As technology advanced, and so much information became available, I liked how PBS Hawaii adapted and was able to cut through all the noise and clutter. They continued to put forth thoughtful conversation with thoughtful content.”

Now as a parent, Jayson trusts the safe, non-violent programming of PBS Kids for his children, coming full circle from his own childhood days of watching Sesame Street and Mister Rogers' Neighborhood.

American Savings Bank returns as a sponsor for Downton Abbey on Masterpiece Classic and Thomas & Friends.

Mahalo a nui loa to American Savings Bank for your business support. If you or your business would like to sponsor programs on PBS Hawaii, please contact Tatsu Sasaki at tsasaki@pbs-hawaii.org or call (808) 973-1990.

Cancer: The Emperor of All Maladies

Courtesy of © Dan McCoy - Rainbow/Science Factory/Corbis

PBS Hawaii, a member of the Public Broadcasting Service (PBS), is a community-supported, non-commercial public television station broadcasting throughout the state of Hawaii.

PBS HAWAII magazine (ISSN: 1946-0813) is published monthly by the Hawaii Public Television Foundation, dba PBS Hawaii. Periodicals postage PAID at Honolulu, Hawaii and at additional entry mailing offices in Hilo, Kahului, Kailua-Kona, Kaunakakai, and Lihue. POSTMASTER: Send address changes to PBS Hawaii, Advancement Department, 2350 Dole Street, Honolulu, HI 96822.

Filmmaker Barak Goodman and executive producer Ken Burns present a three-part, six-hour documentary about cancer, its first appearances and the battles to cure, control and conquer it.
