A Note About Election Coverage

Leslie Wilcox, PBS Hawaii President and CEO

We won't be holding traditional debates this election year on PBS Hawaii. They have a place in elections, but they generally hew to timed, rigid formats which may limit opportunities for needed follow-up questions and spontaneity.

Instead, as an alternative television station, we'll examine election issues in the framework of our longtime weekly public affairs program.

This is a policy statement we're posting for viewers and for candidates for public office.

Insights on PBS Hawaii is a regularly scheduled news interview program. During this election season, PBS Hawaii will provide our trademark, loosely structured live format, featuring candidates discussing issues of community interest. PBS Hawaii exercises sole control over the format of the program. Depending on the number of candidates and newsworthy issues in a given race, there are practical limitations as to the number of candidates who can participate. PBS Hawaii's decisions in presenting Insights are based on good-faith journalistic judgment in providing a conversation that will best serve the public interest.

We invite you to join us for unscripted civil discourse, as Insights provides three months of weekly, hour-long coverage of Primary and General Election races across the state. These are real-time conversations in which you can assess whether opponents are able to think on their feet, ask questions as well as answer them, and disagree respectfully. Last election, we received feedback from viewers that Insights discussions provided some of the more telling moments of the season.

Goodbye and Hello

Board Chair Robbie Alm

Every once in a while, a group finds itself at a “watershed” moment.

PBS Hawaii marks a major changing of the guard on the Board this summer. We are losing a group of Board members whose service and contributions to PBS Hawaii are beyond measure. Jimmy Borges, Keiki-Pua Dancil, Jason Fujimoto, Guy Fujimura, Joan Husted, Tim Johns, Tom Koide and David Watumull have meant a lot to us and we will miss them dearly.

They have given us music, song and laughter; they led us through tough financial times; they took us two-thirds of the way through our major capital campaign; and they stood strong through a number of controversies and challenges. They are what the late entrepreneur Keiji Kawakami called “rope holders” – the ones you want holding the rope if you are dangling over a cliff.

Over the last couple of years, we have added great new talent to our Board. Some of these new Board members will be very familiar to you; others, you will come to know in the years ahead.

From throughout the state, all bring tremendous talent and passion to our mission:

Susan Bendon
 Keola Donaghy
 Matthew Emerson
 Jodi Endo Chai
 Joanne Lo Grimes
 Charlyn Honda
 Masini
 Noelani Kalipi

We are really so blessed at PBS Hawaii by all of you who support us as viewers and donors, by a phenomenal staff, and by all those who share their talent and spirit with us in leadership roles.

Thank you and a fondest aloha to our departing Board members and to our new Board members.

ELECTION 2014

Election Issues and Civil Discourse on Insights

This election season, get to know the candidates for key local races with Insights on PBS Hawaii. It's the only local television program that, for three months, is dedicating weekly, hour-long discussions to Election 2014 candidates.

In fact, Insights is the only live, weekly and statewide televised forum where people with diverse viewpoints regularly come together for civil discussions around community issues. With exposure to multiple perspectives, viewers can make informed opinions about current events.

Insights offers an alternative to traditional televised debates, where there are usually agreed-upon rules that restrict a free-flowing, informative discussion that truly benefits citizens. On Insights, there's only one rule: engaging in real, civil discourse.

Like all of our Insights discussions, PBS Hawaii invites viewers to participate in these candidate forums. Here's how you can participate:

in U.S. history with an official death toll of 1,500. Unofficially, the count may have been far higher. When the USS Sultana mysteriously exploded on April 27, 1865, the Mississippi steamboat was packed with Union soldiers. However, the story of the sinking quickly vanished from the papers. What really sank the Sultana? Was it Confederate sabotage? The team forensically examines and scientifically tests theories of the boilers' failure using the original investigative report and its archives, and researches the stories of a Confederate agent and spy who burned Union ships on the Mississippi and a former Union inspector's deathbed revelation.

10:00 POV My Way to Olympia Who better to cover the Paralympics, the international sporting event for athletes with physical and intellectual disabilities, than Niko von Glasow, the world's best-known disabled filmmaker? Unfortunately – or fortunately for anyone seeking an insightful and funny documentary – this filmmaker frankly hates sports and thinks the games are “a stupid idea.” Born with severely shortened arms, von Glasow serves as an endearing guide to London's Paralympics competition. As he meets a one-handed Norwegian table tennis player, the Rwandan sitting volleyball team, an American archer without arms and a Greek paraplegic boccia player, his own stereotypes about disability and sports are delightfully punctured.

INVESTIGATIONS The Disappearance of Glenn Miller One of the most celebrated, beloved entertainers of the wartime era takes off from England in heavy fog, heading to France to entertain troops – and vanishes. Glenn Miller's disappearance is perhaps the biggest mystery and cold case of World War II. This investigation contains a great deal of new information: Miller's pilot was a rank novice who had never flown over the English Channel, never mind in appalling weather; documents from a Lancaster bomber pilot support another possible accounting of the plane's disappearance; and a 17-year old plane spotter's notebook – discovered in 2012 at a UK Antiques Roadshow – answers a question that has long baffled investigators: which route did Miller's aircraft take? In addition, the German-speaking Miller was working for the U.S. Army's Psychological Warfare Division, recording German language propaganda broadcasts and musical performances.

Sam Low: Raising Islands

July 8 | 7:30 pm

When you meet Sam Low, it may be surprising to learn he's dived to sunken wrecks, gone on digs as an archaeologist, served in the Navy, made films, sailed on the voyaging canoe Hokulea and wrote the book Hawaiki Rising.

On this Long Story Short, Sam talks about being on the Hokulea during a voyage to Rapa Nui.

“Two or three days before Nainoa found the island, we started to have cloudy skies and he had no real sight of his guiding star,” Sam says. “He was steering pretty much by swells and he was navigating by dead reckoning. [Nainoa] was navigating by instinct – trained instinct.

“About five hours later, there it was, Rapa Nui. And it was pretty much where he said it was.”

As a documentarian, Sam Low observes and absorbs. This Renaissance man, humble and inquisitive, brings his story and the stories of his voyages to Long Story Short.

Each year at Bodhi Gaya, India – the holiest site of Buddhism where the Buddha attained supreme enlightenment under the Bodhi tree – over 10,000 Tibetan monks, nuns and lay pilgrims travel here from all across the Himalayan region to pray for world peace and affirm their heritage in the face of overwhelming challenge and loss. The film chronicles the story of the World Peace Ceremony founded by Tarthang Tulku Rinpoche in 1989, an annual event that has united the Tibetan Nyingma community, the most ancient of the four schools of Tibetan Buddhism. Here at the ceremony, Tarthang Tulku has led one of the world's largest efforts to preserve the Tibetan culture through his monumental offerings of Tibetan sacred texts and art. Through their unceasing prayers for peace, the Tibetans have helped revitalize a long dormant place of worship and reinvigorated their culture in the most critical time of their history.

PBS Hawaii Presents

Kid Kine Kurses

July 31 | 9:00 pm

What happens when a Los Angeles producer moves to Hawaii and falls in love with our islands? In the case of Dana Hankins, you look for stories to tell.

In the mid-90s, Dana sifted through dozens of boxes full of stories from a Honolulu Magazine short story fiction writing contest.

"The stories were very representative of the unique lifestyle we live here, in terms of our island culture and the things we appreciate and the things we believe," Dana said.

The two stories that resounded with Dana were "The Lemon Tree Billiards House" by Cedric Yamanaka, and "Dancing with the Long Bone" by Nora Cobb-Keller. Yamanaka's told the story of a young pool player who believes that he is cursed for life, while Cobb-Keller's taught respect for those who have come before us.

Both stories "harken back to a Hawaii [from] maybe 30, 40 years ago," Dana said.

"They remind us of the friendships, the innocence... that really speaks to the community I continue to see here today."

Using her own money, Dana produced these stories as the short films featured on PBS Hawaii Presents Kid Kine Kurses.

Both films feature young actors working alongside local veterans, including the late Ray Bumatai, the late James Grant Benton, Henry Kaponu, Karen Keawehawaii and Dan Seki.

But the journey from the ruined old city of Beichuan to the new Beichuan is long and heartbreaking for the survivors. Three families struggle with loss and feelings of loneliness, fear and dislocation that no amount of propaganda can disguise. First-time director Qi Zhao offers an intimate look at a country torn between tradition and modernity.

At a kangaroo sanctuary, Joy witnesses a tiny newborn's first steps as it crawls to the pouch, and in Adelaide, she learns how endangered rock wallabies are being saved using foster mothers. During a kangaroo dissection, she learns what makes marsupial reproductive anatomy unique.

PARTNER PROFILE Hawaiian Airlines

For Hawaiian Airlines, a longtime sponsor of Na Mele, supporting PBS Hawaii is “quite simply, the right thing to do,” says Kevin Yim, Senior

Kevin Yim

Director of Global Marketing Communications. “As the flagship carrier of Hawaii, Hawaiian Airlines has a special duty to support unique Hawaiian cultural institutions, like Na Mele.”

In addition to Na Mele, Hawaiian Airlines lends its annual support to local broadcasts of Long Story Short and Curious George.

“PBS Hawaii and Hawaiian Airlines both help local people make connections and facilitate important conversations,” explains Kevin. “PBS Hawaii does that through programming, while Hawaiian Airlines does it by moving people to see each other face-to-face.”

Kevin has another reason to support PBS Hawaii – his daughter, Ashley, is a PBS Hawaii Keiki Club member and avid viewer of PBS Kids programming.

“Personally, I can trust that PBS will show family-oriented content that engages my young daughter to read books and further explore her world beyond the TV,” Kevin says. “Only PBS would want their young viewers to turn off the TV to pick up a book or do a science experiment.”

The latest presentation of Na Mele featured the words and music of Jerry Santos.

Mahalo a nui loa to Hawaiian Airlines for their business support. If you or your business would like to sponsor programs on PBS Hawaii, please contact Tatsu Sasaki, Director of Business Support, at (808) 973-1990 or tsasaki@pbshawaii.org.
