WHOLE FOODS MARKET DONATES 5% OF MARCH 8 NET SALES TO PBS HAWAII

Last month, Whole Foods Market Hawai'i presented PBS Hawai'i with a donation of more than $16,000, as a result of the grocery retailer's Community Support Day on Wednesday, March 8. The check amount equals to 5 percent of that day's net sales across Whole Foods Market locations in Kahala, Kahului and Kailua. Many thanks to those of you who shopped at a Whole Foods Market Hawai'i location on March 8!

It Just Doesn't Add Up - Federal De-Funding of Public Media

Kent K. Tsukamoto
*Treasurer
PBS Hawai'i
Board of Directors*

I'm a numbers guy. It's my job.

As a longtime CPA and as managing partner of one of Hawai'i's largest locally owned financial services companies, I know that numbers tell stories, too.

So, with the White House handing Congress a proposed federal budget that would de-fund the nonprofit Corporation for Public Broadcasting, I took a closer look at the numbers in the current federal investment.

For years now, Republicans and Democrats have vigorously argued and then come together in a bipartisan investment to give public media $445 million a year, with most of the money going directly to support free, noncommercial, locally run PBS television stations and NPR radio stations across the country.

$445 million is 1/100th of 1 percent of the nation's budget, amounting to $1.35 per citizen per year. The national PBS folks point out that's less than a cup of coffee. Here, we like to say: That's less than the price of a manapua – and a small manapua at that.

Most years for PBS Hawai'i, our part of the national funding amounts to 15 percent, or about $1 million, of our annual revenues. We use the federal investment as seed money to attract contributions from the private sector – “viewers like you.” Individuals, businesses and charitable foundations pitch in. It's these private gifts and grants, fanned by the spark of federal funding, that provide the bulk of our statewide programming and outreach.

Among the offerings that the federal investment helps us acquire: curriculum-based PBS KIDS programming that boosts our children's learning; the science show NOVA; the investigative program Frontline; and performing arts on Great Performances. The federal funding also helps to create shows like Na Mele, the only weekly television show featuring traditional Hawaiian music; and Insights on PBS Hawai'i, the only live hour-long interactive public affairs show on weekly statewide television.

$1.35. That's the cost of public broadcasting per citizen per year – less than the price of a manapua.

As a lean local nonprofit that's able to leverage the federal money and also scale our services by sharing program costs nationally in public media, PBS Hawai'i has a track record of delivering quality shows at very reasonable costs.

To guard against political interference in program content, Congress has provided two-year “forward funding” as a firewall. All of this computes to a successful public-private partnership.

As Neil Shapiro, who heads WNET in New York, observed: “It's not like cutting this would have any appreciable effect on any taxpayer across the country, but losing PBS would.”

In my view, this is especially true when it comes to the value of PBS' in-depth news coverage, arts and culture, a safe haven for keiki and a trusted place to air differing perspectives on local issues.

It's a privilege to volunteer my time as Treasurer of PBS Hawai'i's Board of Directors – because I want to support a community treasure that is efficient and collaborative in costs, while providing a significant multiple in the value returned to the people of Hawai'i.

I see how the federal investment enriches the people of Hawai'i and keeps our stories alive, our music playing and our home a better, safer place.

The numbers tell the story.

If you'd like to help:

1. Contact your Congressional delegates;
2. Go to ProtectMyPublicMedia.org and sign a petition.
3. Continue to pitch in with your private dollars as you can.

Thank you.

PACIFIC HEARTBEAT SEASON 6

SATURDAYS, MAY 6 - 27, 8:00 PM

Pictured: EVER THE LAND

Now in its sixth season, the anthology series Pacific Heartbeat brings the real Pacific to your TV screen – its people, culture and contemporary issues. From revealing exposés to in-depth profiles and unexpected histories, the series features a diverse array of programs that draw viewers into the heart, mind and soul of Pacific Island culture. Pacific Heartbeat is a co-presentation of Pacific Islanders in Communications and PBS Hawai‘i.

Saturday, May 6, 8:00 pm

Visions in the Dark: The Life of Pinky Thompson

Visions in the Dark: The Life of Pinky Thompson is a Hawaiian story of pain, promise, challenge, triumph and leadership. Sustaining a serious eye wound in Normandy during WWII that left him in the dark for two years, Myron “Pinky” Thompson emerged with a clear vision of his purpose in life. Thompson would go on to be a social worker, mentor and revered leader in the Native Hawaiian community who left a legacy of positive social change, pride in Pacific heritage and a strong sense of native identity among Hawaiians that flourishes today.

Saturday, May 13, 8:00 pm

Ever the Land

Ever the Land explores the sublime bond between people and their land. For the past 150 years, the relationship between the Tūhoe Maori tribe and the New Zealand government has been defined by longstanding grievances over severe colonization experiences. The film captures a period of change in 2014, when the Tūhoe’s ancestral homelands were returned, the New Zealand government issued an official apology, and Tūhoe built the first-ever “Living Building” in New Zealand as a testament to their values and vision of self-governance.

Saturday, May 20, 8:00 pm

Mele Murals

At the center of this story are two renowned street artists – Estria Miyashiro and John “Prime” Hina – who work with a group of Native Hawaiian youth in the rural community of Waimea on Hawai‘i Island. Mele Murals shows how public art and Native Hawaiian traditions transform the artists, students and community.

NEXT GOAL WINS

Saturday, May 27, 8:00 pm

Next Goal Wins

In 2001, American Samoa suffered a world record 31-0 defeat at the hands of Australia, garnering headlines across the world as the worst football (soccer) team on the planet. Next Goal Wins is an inspirational story about the power of hope in the face of seemingly insurmountable odds, and an object lesson in what it really means to be a winner in life.

About Pacific Islanders in Communications (PIC)

Since 1991, Pacific Islanders in Communications has pursued its mission of supporting, advancing and developing Pacific Island media content and talent that results in a deeper understanding of Pacific Island history, culture and contemporary challenges.

PBS Hawai'i is pleased to continue our long-standing partnership with Pacific Islanders in Communications on the national series Pacific Heartbeat, now in its sixth season, as well as many films throughout the years. Coming in June to PBS Hawai'i is our next collaboration, Kū Kanaka: Stand Tall.

Last year marked Pacific Islanders in Communications' 25th anniversary. The organization has just unveiled its new logo, above, symbolizing its commitment to bring authentic Pacific Islanders stories to the world. As PIC has stated on its website: "Our new logo reflects who we are now without letting us forget and appreciate how we arrived here."

AMERICAN EPIC

Tuesdays, May 16-30, 9:00 pm

By Emilie Howlett

Willie Nelson and Merle Haggard are featured performers on The American Epic Sessions, Tuesday, June 6 at 8:00 pm.

To imagine where Hawai'i would be without its music is nearly impossible. A pillar of our culture, our music tells our origin story, and acts as a map of our discoveries, our breakthroughs and our connections.

The regional sounds of America's communities and the pioneers who planted these seeds are showcased in American Epic, a three-part documentary series produced by T Bone Burnett, Robert Redford and Jack White.

The three episodes revisit the 1920s, when record company representatives traveled the country with a primitive recording machine, hoping to capture the untapped sounds of rural America for the first time. The recordings reflected the country's diversity, and uplifted voices from some of the poorest places in the nation. The portable recording system democratized music that would give rise to genres such as blues, country, Hawaiian, Cajun, folk and gospel.

Almost a century later, British filmmakers Bernard MacMahon, Allison McGourty and Duke Erikson embark on a journey to rediscover these seminal musicians, whose legacies are brought to life through a decade of research, interviews and previously unseen film footage and photographs.

Tuesday, May 16, 9:00 pm

Part 1 of 3: The Big Bang

The series begins in 1920s Tennessee with two acts from the Appalachian Mountains. The Carter Family was integral in laying the foundation for country music, while the music of the Memphis Jug Band stems from the blues and made way for R&B.

Tuesday, May 23, 9:00 pm

Part 2 of 3: Blood and Soil

In America's rural South, Elder Burch, Charley Patton and others recorded early Delta blues, gospel and protest songs. The Great Flood of 1927 forced those from Mississippi River communities to migrate north, spurring the development of the Chicago blues, led by Howlin' Wolf.

Tuesday, May 30, 9:00 pm

Part 3 of 3: Out of the Many, the One

Explore the origins of various regional music genres. Joseph Kekuku, regarded as the inventor of the steel guitar, is at the center of the Hawaiian slack key story. This episode also traces the hybrid cultures evident in Tejano music, along with stories behind Cajun music and the music of the Hopi tribe.

Tuesday, June 6, 8:00 pm

The American Epic Sessions

The series culminates in this pledge-of-support event, featuring performances from Alabama Shakes, The Avett Brothers, Beck, Edie Brickell, Elton John, Los Lobos, Taj Mahal, Steve Martin, Nas and Willie Nelson, and led by series producers Jack White and T Bone Burnett. The performers attempt to replicate the atmosphere of the 1920s field recordings, using microphones, amplifiers and equipment from the era.

30 TUESDAY

- 7:30 LONG STORY SHORT WITH LESLIE WILCOX Florence "Johnny" Frisbie: Islander at Heart Florence "Johnny" Frisbie's sense of curiosity and adventure followed her far beyond her Pacific island home in Pukapuka, in the Cook Islands. She traveled to Hawai'i, Japan and eventually New Zealand, where she raised her family. She eventually followed her desire to return home to Pukapuka, an island now gravely threatened by climate change and the rapid loss of its ancient culture and language.

- 8:00 VICTORIAN SLUM HOUSE The 1900s
Observe the social changes the slum dwellers face as they move into the 20th century. A few families prosper, but others continue to face the poverty endemic in Britain. See what steps are finally taken to alleviate the plight of the poor.

JOIN THE PBS HAWAII'Ī KEIKI CLUB

One way you can support PBS Hawai'i, your locally owned public television station, is through our Keiki Club. Family members, friends and caregivers can gift a membership for their little one.

For an annual donation of $30 per child (or $25 for each sibling), each PBS Hawai'i Keiki Club member receives the following:

- On-air birthday greeting
- Fun welcome pack
- Special birthday card and present
- Quarterly newsletter filled with games and puzzles
- Special invitations to exclusive Club events

Your gift will ensure that PBS Hawai'i can continue to provide curriculum-based, educational programming that is uninterrupted by commercials and prepares Hawai'i's keiki for lifelong learning. Come join us!

SUPPORT THE PROGRAMS YOU LOVE ON PBS HAWAI'I

LIMITED EDITION IPU SHIRT

For your gift of $75 or more to PBS Hawai'i, you can receive this limited-edition t-shirt featuring plant designs by our NEW HOME architect and artist Sheryl Seaman. This year's ipu shirt is the fourth in a series of five. The shirt is navy heather, lightweight and features a composite design consisting of four traditional native Hawaiian plants on the back. Quantities are limited.

T-shirt sizes come in Small, Medium, Large, XL and XXL. Shirt runs small — we recommend going up one size when ordering.
